PERFORMANCE SUGGESTIONS

"Baritone Boogie" may be performed either as a Solo or as a Baritone Section Feature. If used as a Solo number you may take liberties with measures 1 thru 4 and again in measures 54, 55, and 56, but maintain a steady swing tempo throughout the rest of the piece.

As with any feature number, care must be taken to insure that the band does not cover up the soloist(s). The drum parts are written to be performed by a regular concert band type percussion section. However, you may wish to replace these parts with a single player on Drum Set should you have one available.

Additional suggestions for the Baritone soloists are found in notes on their parts. You may wish to go over these notes with your Baritone players. If you are using the number as a solo feature and have other Baritone players present, they should not play any other part, as their sound will tend to obscure the soloist.

With just a slight change in the title, this number can also be performed as a Trombone Solo using the Baritone Bass Clef part, or a Tenor Saxophone Solo using the Baritone Treble Clef part.

Andy Clark is a composer/arranger with a diverse background of musical and publishing experiences. A native of Alva Oklahoma, he spent 4 years as chief arranger and featured trombonist and drummer with the U.S. Air Force "CONAC BAND". After his discharge, Andy was a very successful high school band director and music supervisor for the Rose Hill, Kansas Public Schools. In 1976 he resigned his teaching position to devote full time to a growing music publishing business, Norman Lee Publishing. Until 1988 he continued to perform professionally and was the leader of a 15-piece big band comprised primarily of professional players in the Wichita, Kansas area. As a composer/arranger Andy has had over 100 band pieces published and has served as a clinician in 28 states. In July of 1988 Andy joined the management staff at C.L. Barnhouse Company where he continues to help select, edit and write music for many of the Barnhouse band and orchestra series, especially those at the elementary and junior high levels.
