Rising Band Series (Grade levels 1½ - 2)

The Rising Band Series is carefully designed and written to serve the performance needs of the developing band program. In addition to providing quality performance literature for your concert program, each title in the series provides an appropriate musical setting for the conductor/teacher to reinforce musical concepts and skills that have been addressed in the first two years of instruction. Written at two grade levels (1 1/2 and 2), the Rising Band Series provides a variety of musical works that employ the note and rhythm sequence used in most band method books. The Rising Band Series is a sound fundamental approach leading to a command of the concert band.

About the Music

Red River Valley is one of the most famous and beloved American folk songs. Its origin is not known, but it is believed to have originated in Canada in the 1870's, during an expedition to Manitoba's northern Red River Valley. As is often the case with folk songs, various lyrics have been sung over the years. The song is usually associated today with the American southwest, and the great traditions of the American cowboy.

Notes to the Director

This arrangement is designed to present the tune of Red River Valley in a lyrical setting, while incorporating elements associated with "western" music – temple blocks, emulating the ambling pace of a cowboy's horse; and the flowing quarter note lines which pass through the band. In the introduction, balance the major 6th (G concert) against the B-flat chord so that it grinds ever so gently. Encourage horns to balance the clarinets at m. 5 with the melody. The phrase endings (fl., ob., trumpets m. 11-12, 17-20 should be subtle, and well in the background.) Trumpets should play lyrically at m. 21, and blend with upper woodwinds. At m. 41, the entire ensemble should play with a full, but controlled sound – never more powerful than pretty. Horns and alto saxophones should soar with their countermelodies. From m. 52 to 54 the horn solo (joined later by baritone) should play freely, with the original tempo returning at m. 55. As in the beginning, balance the major 6th (now the C concert) to blend in both a subtle yet potent way.

I hope you, your musicians, and your audience enjoy this setting of Red River Valley.

His band works number over 200, many published by Barnhouse, and have been performed, recorded, and broadcast by bands worldwide.

In college, Glover won a position in the Detroit Concert Band, conducted by Leonard B. Smith, and performed for four seasons on euphonium. He participated in numerous recording sessions with the DCB, including ten phonograph records of "Gems of the Concert Band" and a documentary film soundtrack. For many years he also performed as a soloist and guest artist.
