Special Notes About Distributing Parts:

The Build-A-Band Series should be approached by giving careful consideration to the distribution of parts within your group to attain the best possible blend. You should also feel free to adjust dynamic levels, and to instruct any instruments to adjust octaves at your discretion. In many cases, reducing or adding to the number of players playing a part can greatly help with balance, and make for a much more musical performance. Remember, the flexibility in scoring allows you to be creative to enhance the sound of your group.

The cymbal, snare drum and bass drum parts are all included on one part labeled Percussion Part, so that they may be performed by either separate players or by one player on a drum set.

The Mallet Percussion Part may be marked for the specific mallet percussion instrument but it can be performed by any mallet percussion instrument, and may be doubled if you have multiple players and instruments. For best results, be creative in assigning which instruments play in the different sections of the arrangement.

The optional Timpani part is always playable with 3 timpani.

For repeated sections, in larger ensembles, consider having woodwinds play the first time and brass the second time; or have one player on each part the first time, and all players on the repeat. Another option is having one player on the 1st part as a solo, then having all players on the repeat.

In some of the arrangements which include 16th note runs you will find options to convert some of those runs into 8th notes for players of lesser abilities. This can be done with some or all of the players.

The various instrument parts are written in the octave of the most popular instrument for that part; i.e., C Instrument Part 1 parts are written in the common range for the flute. If you are playing that part on another C instrument such as the oboe, you may have to adjust to a lower octave. In many cases, parts are written in several octaves to help adjust for different instrument ranges.

All of the publications in the Build-A-Band Series have been arranged to be playable with any instrumentation as long as each part is used: Part 1, Part 2, Part 3, Part 4, and Bass Part 5. (Please note: In some of these arrangements Part 4 and the Bass Part are the same, making it possible to play those arrangements with only 4 parts.)

Program Note

Tales of Sea and Sail is based on sea shanties from the 1800s. Sea shanties (also spelled chanteys) were work songs, sung by sailors on ships to assist in doing necessary sailing chores such as raising the anchor, hoisting a sail, and manning the pump. It is thought that sea shanties developed in the 1600s from simple call-and-response phrases between the shanteyman (the leader) and the sailing crew. Over the years, these phrases grew into better-organized songs whose subject became more specialized to the nature of work needing to be done. Sea shanties reached the peak of their popularity during the 1800s, the golden age of sailing.

Tales of Sea and Sail consists of the following shanties: A Roving (sometimes called Amsterdam), Rio Grande, Blow the Man Down, Shenandoah, A Drunken Sailor, and Santy Anna.

Rehearsal Suggestions

For the most part, the shanties should be played at lively tempos. Attention to dynamics and articulations will make each one sparkle. The one exception is Shenandoah (beginning at measure 94) which should be played slowly and expressively, in a lyrical style. The final shanty, A Drunken Sailor (beginning at m. 117) should be particularly raucous. Be sure to emphasize the contrast between the wind instruments and the percussion section, for a bold finish.

I hope you enjoy Tales of Sea and Sail.
